

Hello ladies,

Please submit your papers and ideas to WAPFIN@Stern 2019! (The Women Assistant/Associate Professors of Finance Conference at Stern).

The conference will be September 27-28, 2019 at NYU Stern. Attendance is open to anyone who is an untenured finance professor in a business school. There are a few exceptions for universities with finance professors but no finance departments and people doing finance at a Federal Reserve Bank.

We will have one day of polished work (Friday), and one day of early stage work (Saturday). Friday will be open (e.g., men can come if they want). Saturday will be restricted to the untenured women on the program. Invited senior women will participate only in the Friday session, which will conclude with a senior advice panel over cocktails. While the exact list may change, for the panel we have confirmed Antoinette Schoar (MIT Sloan), Carola Frydman (Northwestern Kellogg), Jenny Carpenter (NYU Stern), Toni Whited (Michigan Ross), and Michelle Lowry (Drexel LeBow). Other senior women who are already in New York will be invited to join for Friday's sessions and dinner.

You can submit papers to Friday, Saturday, or both. Email your submissions to wapfin@stern.nyu.edu with the subject line "WAPFIN submission" no later than July 15, 2019.

Friday submissions should consist of a draft paper, just like a normal conference.

Saturday submissions should consist of document (Word or PDF) containing your name, school affiliation, and 3-5 sentences about your project. It should be very early stage (i.e. no circulated draft yet).

The selection committee for both days will consist of Cecilia, Sabrina, Shan, and Theresa. Anyone selected to present their own paper will be expected to attend the entire conference.

Get excited - we hope to have even more fun than last year! See here for last year's schedule and attendees.

Cecilia, Sabrina, Shan, and Theresa